Your Comments: 5.9.2 Connecting cords, patch cords and extension leads I request that this clause be deleted as I believe that cablers need the flexibility to make custom cables for their client on site (particularly at short notice during a service call) without the fear of jeopardizing their cabling licence. Also I believe this clause could be interpreted to exclude the current practice of wiring system tie cables from wall frames to active equipment in racks (ie cutting the end off a patch cord and punching it down on a wall frame and looming the other end into an equipment rack)
